

Honeywell TFE 731 A/P Mechanic

Qualifications:

Honeywell TFE 731 Engine experience

Licensed A&P

Military background in aviation, mechanical, or engines – welcome but not required

US work authorization

Salary:

$25.00 starting

Full Job Description:

Hale Aircraft, Inc. an MRO facility is looking for aircraft mechanics with experience working on Honeywell 731 engines required experience.

Repair and maintain the structural, mechanical, and electronic elements of the engine.

Work as part of a team and share knowledge with others to complete jobs effectively and efficiently.

Come Grow with Us

When you join Hale Aircraft, Inc. you join a team. If you're a young professional, you'll receive training and support to learn and build your career. If you have years of experience, your wisdom is valued, and you'll play an important role in mentoring and maintaining the high standards of our team.

Be a Part of Hale Aircraft Success

Each employee at Hale Aircraft, Inc. is part of a successful, growing business committed to customer service. The trust our customers place in us to be responsive and deliver the highest quality has allowed us to grow steadily for decades, expanding the depth and breadth of services we offer around the world.

Since opening in 1988 Hale Aircraft, Inc. has maintained being a family orientated company that offers a strong working atmosphere with great benefits.

For Hale Aircraft, Inc. an expansive future lies ahead. Join our team and make our future yours.

Company's website: haleaircraft.com

Company's Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/haleaircraft>